INSTITUTE PUBLIC LIBRARY—FIRST ANNUAL STATEMENT

Following is the first annual statement of the librarian, Rev. J. W. Smith:

The year has closed with a record of progress beyond our brightest expectation.

There are 2000 books on the shelves and 175 more awaiting minor repairs. Library equipment has been installed and shelving constructed, and a book repairing department ensures the books giving longer service.

Decision to open a public library in Blairmore was made in December, 1928. About 700 books were donated from various sources and the library was opened to the public on March 16th, 1929. During the month of March, twenty-four members joined. The year ended with sixty members. This number has been increased by five more who have joined since the close of the year.

Books loaned—1st quarter, March, April and May, 417 books; 2nd quarter, June, July and August, 402 books; 3rd quarter, September, October and November, 385 books; month of December, 204 books. Total in ten months, 1708 books loaned.

BLAIRMORE TO PLAY AT LETHBRIDGE THURSDAY

Here's a golden opportunity for professed supporters of hockey to show their interest in a practical way. Blairmore will go to Lethbridge on the local Thursday next to play a sudden-death game for the Wright cup. Following the Lethbridge win here last night, the biggest gate ever had in amateur hockey may be expected, coupled with possibly the best game ever witnessed.

It was discouraging to the visitors, as well as to our own boys, to note the small size of the house last night. Lethbridge gave us a bumper house at Lethbridge, and the game last night was deserving of equal patronage here.

Let's all-aboard for Lethbridge on Thursday next.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, marries Molly Winton, a bellied singer, not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrell, a loyal little cigarette girl. After Al wins fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Perry, taking her baby, Junior, as she sails for France. Al, broken by the loss of his son, becomes a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrell, and recovers to support in a Broadway revue. One night he receives a phone call from Molly and rushes to a hospital to find Junior fatally ill. He rushes to Junior, but his son dies. Then Al dashes back to the theatre to find he must sing the same song to his audience.

CHAPTER XXXI

The bright lights were on, the stage was empty, the orchestra played the opening bars that heralded Al's entrance. But still he stood in the wings as if in a trance, fearful of attempting the song he had just sung to his dying child. The orchestra stopped, started again, and the stage manager ran toward Al.

"That's your number, big boy."

"I can't sing that song," protested Al.

"Not tonight."

The stage manager saw something was wrong, but he didn't know what.

"It's too late to change now, Al. It's your hit song. Think of the show!"

The show! Al walked on the stage, driven by sheer force of will. There were the lights, there was the orchestra leader, beyond were the dim sea of faces of the audience. Without knowing it, he fell into his character, the happy-go-lucky singing fool. A roar of applause came up and met him like a great wind. He went into his song, believing he could carry on. The stage manager relaxed and turned to Grace. "What's the matter with him?"

Quickly Grace explained and they both watched Al with anxious eyes. Would he make it? He was singing bravely, but it was apparent to the well trained ears that he was faltering now and then. When he came to the chorus the quaver in his voice was too intense. Once his voice broke entirely.

Suddenly it seemed to Al as if that sophisticated audience didn't exist. Instead of grown-up faces he saw hundreds of faces of babies and children, pleading and beckoning to him. Babies and children, who had drifted off into Never-Never Land, and among them Junior! Junior's face and figure came toward him with arms outstretched.

Only Grace understood the dreadful ordeal he was passing through. She felt as if he were sinking into that sea of light while she stood by, unable to aid him.

To the audience it seemed as if the intense fervor of Al's singing keyed close to the breaking point, was only a phase of his skillful rendering, but the musicians caught the occasional minor breaks and glanced up with worried expressions.

Then the sad case—Al simply broke off singing in the midst of his song. He stood there, seeing Junior as plainly as he had seen him at the hospital. . . . Where was he? Oh, yes, the theatre, the lights. He tried to rally, choked, and stopped again. Swiftly the stage manager signalled to have the curtain lowered.

As the curtain came down Grace ran forward and caught Al in her arms. The stage manager was by her side to put an arm about his star singer and help him toward his dressing room. From beyond the curtain came the staccato beat of the applause. The audience was bewildered, but it realized that the best tribute it could give was due the man who had just stood before it.

Al collapsed in his dressing room chair, his head dropping limply forward on his chest. What had happened? . . . Oh, yes, he remembered—he had tried to sing and failed. He raised his head, gazed around the room curiously and brought his eyes back to Grace's face. Here was dear, loyal Grace standing before him—that was a help, at any rate.

"I guess I flopped, darling."

"Grace did not answer. She simply took his face in her hands, kissing it firmly and gently, as if to soothe the trembling muscles. How curiously large and brilliant his dark brown eyes seemed with the solid black make-up around them."

As Grace tried to quiet him, Al saw Junior's photograph and heard the ticking of his watch; which seemed strangely loud. It was like a voice telling him that time was passing and that his baby had gone away.

He picked up the watch and began slowly turning the hands backward—till nine o'clock, to eight, seven and six. Grace stood, stopped, while an uncanny expression, almost like a smile, crossed his face. Grace drew back with a terrible rising fear that he might be losing his mind.

"What is it, darling? Why are you doing that?"

"I'm doing it because of Junior."

His voice and eyes were rational now and she saw a tear splash across the watch case.

"You're turning my watch back," he said softly, "to the time when he was still alive!"

No one but Al and Grace knew the fierce struggle that little Grace passed through after Junior's death to save the man she loved.

It seemed as if the menace of his first breakdown lurked, like an ogre, just around the corner, waiting to pounce out and send him down and out. Its chance came with the passing of the little boy Al had loved with his whole heart. So the ogre of despair was at Al again, while Grace fought valiantly.

She watched Al like a hawk, fearful that he would disappear once more. She knew if he did she would never be able to bring him back. The second breakdown would be much worse than the first.

On the day after his breakdown Al's old sense of spathy took possession of him. He told Grace he would have to quit the show. But at his declaration Grace took counter-action. She saw that what he needed now was not rest and escape. He should be forced for his own good to go on as if nothing had happened. She explained that to him.

"Al, you mustn't back down, you mustn't give an inch!" she cried with passionate conviction. "I know how you feel and I sympathize with you. Heaven knows I've suffered with you and for you! You must hold tightly to the will to live—if not for yourself, then for me. I love you!"

Al stared at her a long time without answering. Then he said quietly, "You're right, Grace."

Grace saw she had won the first battle, but she knew there would be other skirmishes. However, the first battle was the most important—and the hardest.

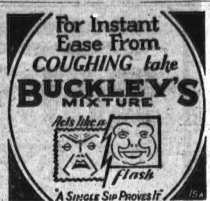

Al stayed on with the Marcus revue. Another song was substituted for "Little Feller," but otherwise his

Weak After Operation

"After having an operation, I was very miserable, weak, nervous and very near unto to work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and tried it and believe it helped me wonderfully. I have no weak spells any more, the pains have left me and my nerves are much better. I feel safe in saying Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines have helped me wonderfully."—Mrs. Wm. H. routine was the same. And as the nights passed Grace's contention was proved. His grip on life grew stronger because he was surrounded by people who sympathized with him and because he had to work.

Strangely enough, Molly had disappeared in much the same way that Al himself had vanished following her elopement. As soon as the first shock of Junior's death had been softened in this mind, Al, at Grace's suggestion, tried to trace Molly. When they heard how John Perry had gone through her money they were fearful that she might be in want. But Molly had left the city, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. Not until months later did Al learn that she had gone to the home of a relative in the mid west. She never came back to Broadway.

As Al's second recovery progressed, so his plans and G. ace's moved closer to materialization. Then came the day when he and Grace, with a few of their closest friends, visited the Little Church around the corner and were married. Marcus, Blackie Joe, and Bill Cline, Al's former partner were in that small group of friends. When the ceremony was over, Marcus whispered to Al:

"Boy, you've picked the right girl this time."

Slueths

After many years of well-earned leisure, Frank Frost, one of the most famous old time Scotland Yard slueths, died recently in London, England, 72, after an operation.

One of Frost's most dramatic adventures was when he went to Argentina to arrest James Balfour, financial misdoer, on a mammoth scale, whose story belongs to nearly 40 years back. The detective found insurmountable obstacles against him in getting Balfour out of Argentina.

Finally he got his man on a car attached to a locomotive which went at a breakneck speed to Buenos Aires, and despite the efforts to impede him, Frost got Balfour aboard a ship for England.

With a rubber band around its throat to prevent it disgorging its meal, a small box among the collections of snakes in the National Museum, at Ottawa, broke a three months fast recently.

When the became thin and torpid, Clyde Patch, reptile expert at the museum, became worried. He tried to force a mouse down the snake's gullet, but the reptile, resorting to his forceful methods, disgorged the morsel. Mr. Patch tried again and quickly found the rubber band around the snake's throat with the result that the meal stayed down, and the snake gained weight and energy.

The Terror Of The Seas

Age Old Battle Of Mariners and the Elements

The storms which have been devastating the shipping around the northwestern fringes of Europe and the British Isles, are said to have been the worst experienced in those waters in many years. How many seamen have been drowned, how many ships have struggled and died under their malevolent fury, is not yet ascertained. It may never be known.

"This," as Conrad once wrote, "is the disintegrating power of a great wind. An earthquake, a landslide, an avalanche overtakes a man incidentally as it were—without passion. A furious gale attacks him like a personal enemy, tries to grasp his limbs, fastens upon his neck, seeks to rout his very spirit out of him."

That is the character of the desperate warfare which has been going on behind the brief news despatches of ships in difficulties and bodies washed ashore. It is a combat intermittent but recurring, as old as maritime civilizations which for so many centuries have launched their keels upon those troubled seas. The very names in the news stories—Bulwark, the Scilly Isles, the Goodwins, Dungeness—are the names of ancient battlefields in the old war. They run back through all the literature of the sea; Nelson's navy fought the gales there, like the Henry VIII's and the Philipinas who came to Cornwall for the first time, the Goodwins, the Dungeness, are the names of ancient battlefields in the old war. CHANGES EXTRAORDINARY!

Not long since we were told that in many years hence—oh, a scandalously long time—man's physical appearance and proportions will have entirely changed. So will his general habits, methods of locomotion, and those things generally that are now peculiar to him. The main part of him, both in size and in importance will be his head; it will be much longer than the largest variety now known. He will move through the air at will. His physical life will be reduced to an absolute minimum and his intellect will reign supreme.

Startling changes these—and of a nature to bring up most embarrassing problems. Since they are still so far off we can afford to leave their solution to another day and generation.

But there are other changes much nearer our time—only a matter of two thousand years—that have been announced recently by Dr. Dan U. Cameron, of the Chicago Dental Society.

Strangely enough they, too, concern the head. However, this latter, instead of assuming proportions out of all proportions, it will get much smaller. Even now it is undergoing a process of refinement and readjustment which will eventually result in the loss of what heretofore has been considered an absolute essential, except in the case of very small children—the teeth! It seems that we are facing a toothless age.

Now the changes and problems that the toothless age is going to bring upon us are numerous. The dentist's profession will go; which accounts for the present high prices, no doubt—a mere matter of justice when you think it over. They have to look to the future.

Since the food will have to be mainly liquid, the changes affecting the food market will be simply revolutionary in character. It is here that the economic issues will be the greatest—so great indeed in all-year toothache to bring back the old order of things.

By the time that the two ages—the toothless and the bodyless—merge into one, the world will have changed beyond recognition. There will be "filing stations" in the clouds instead of the prosaic eating-houses that are known to our generation.

Notices to supply liquid food to customers in flight will be written on the blue background of the sky. At night these signs will be of such brightness as to make the world forget the existence of the stars. As for the earth itself it will serve as a vast pasture land, whence the inhabitants of the clouds will draw their food supplies. Just who will do the menial tasks that even that advanced age will not be able to dispense with, is a question we would prefer not to have asked. Nor shall we anticipate the question of what will become of intensive advertising? Evidently in the toothless age "four out of every five" cannot have diseased gums. So there is one choice ad. gone. And your "best friends" will have to think up something else that they will not tell you.—Sean Og, in The Western Catholic.

"Dad" Wallinger and "Bill" Cameron, of Cranbrook, thoroughly enjoyed their visit to Blairmore during bonspiel week, and every soul that met them was equally pleased with the opportunity. Not of the boastful spirit, both are sports of the first water, and do not even take second place to Herchmer, Kastner or Kirkham.

NO HONKS ALOUD

The Royal Automobile Club of Oslo, Norway, maintains that no driver need use his horn within the boundaries of the city, that speed should always be so moderate that collisions can be avoided, and that cars turning corners at night give sufficient warning by their headlights. The club also proposes that the use of horns be made a punishable offense.

Finland is reported to have been experimenting with silent driving with satisfactory results and the police of Madrid have made a ruling under which automobile horn tooters are being fined for making excessive noise. Fines are from $2.50 to $4.00 for each offense.

K. OF C's ISSUE

WARNING TO PUBLIC

There are some sweepstake tickets in circulation under the name of the Knights of Columbus Council, 1693. These tickets sell for $1.00 each and are for the English Grand National Races to be run March 28.

The local council of the Knights of Columbus ask the public not to purchase these tickets and to inform them of anyone endeavoring to sell them.

The following is an extract from the Vancouver Sun of January 6, 1930.

ST. LOUIS.—Use of the name of the Knights of Columbus in connection with a horse race today in Montreal, was condemned by the supreme board of directors of the organization at a meeting here yesterday.

Marlin H. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., supreme knight, said he would ask the co-operation of Canadian authorities in suppressing the lottery and its literature.

Carmody also said he would seek to compel the promoter to return money already collected.—Kinberley Press.

For some time past a clumsily mounted coyote skin helped to make beautiful the interior of the local B. E.S.L. quarters. About two weeks ago, the idea struck the manager that the simplest way to get the dust off it was to place it outside the door one night when a hurricane of wind was blowing in from the east. Next morning about nine, a little lad on the way to school happened to notice this creature standing still and went and rapped at the door of the club. The manager opened the door and the lad sorrowfully remarked: "Mister, yer dog is frozed stiff. He can't walk!" A few nights later, the mounted ornament was placed on a snowbank near main street, and while scores of dogs, as well as children and grown-ups were gathering around, a lad of about eighteen years came rushing along with a rifle in his hand. Asked what he intended to do with the weapon at that hour of the night, he replied: "I'm goin' to shoot that beast!" Next, the thing was moved into the kitchen of the Cosmopolitan hotel, where its nose protruded from underneath a table. The night porter entering in the course of his duty, noticed the nose of the animal, opened a door and wild a wild sweep of a broom and the words accompanying it, bange the ornament to the floor. Since then, the creature has disappeared, probably figuring it as silly to try to come back like a cat.

Queer things sometimes get into print, because human beings all make mistakes. Now and then a newspaper reporter writes copy carelessly, etc. Here are a few of the 1929 best bets in such errors:

It is a rule in most banks that cheques cannot be cashed for strangers, so when a calm-looking woman placed her cheque on the counter the cashier smiled regretfully.

"I am sorry, madam," he said, "you will have to be sponsored for. We do not cash cheques for strangers."

"But you know me," said the lady.

"I'm afraid I don't, madam."

"Yes, you do. I'm the red-headed virago who lives next door to you, whose scoundrelly little boys are always stealing your apples. When you started out for work this morning, your wife called after you, 'Now, Henry, if you want any dinner you will have to leave me some money! I can't run the house on nothing, and—'"

An Oriental paper, having an English section, printed the following notice:

"The news of English we tell the latest. Writ in perfectly style and most earliest. Do a murder commit, we hear of it and tell it. Do a mighty chief die, we publish it and in border sombre. Her sweetheart: "How do you know?"

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blaimore Enterprise, 1914)

May 22.—Mr. E. Petrequin, recently-appointed missionary by the Presbyterian Church in Canada, to work in conjunction with Rev. W. T. Young among the French-speaking people of the Pass, has had a series of very interesting meetings.

The new Anglican church at Hillcrest was opened for public worship on Sunday evening last by his lordship Bishop Pinkham, of Calgary.

The annual meeting of the Macleod district of the Methodist church was held at Frank on Wednesday, with the following ministers in attendance: Revs. J. M. Harrison, A. D. Richards, W. H. Irwin, J. C. Anglin, W. T. Young and Arthur Barner.

The mayor of Macleod is endeavoring to raise $30,000 for the purpose of sinking an oil well in the Macleod district.

Mayor Lyon and several other Blaimore financiers were in Lethbridge this week arranging to fence in the oil areas of Southern Alberta.

The marriage of Margaret May Nason, of Selly Park, England, to Samuel Charlton, took place at Hillcrest on Monday afternoon.

Among those who have become wealthy through Alberta oil stocks are the following: Gordon Gilchrist, Mark Drumm, Danny Lewis, H. G. Benson, Joe Tompkins, Larry Ryan, R. W. Thompson and E. Maxwell Brown.

Tommy, eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson, was drowned at Frank on Wednesday evening by falling off a small raft.

The Empress of Ireland was sunk in collision with a coal steamer on the St. Lawrence yesterday, with a loss of nearly one thousand lives.

The population of the city of Edmonton is now estimated at 72,000.

An attempt to wreck the Blaimore brewery was frustrated in the nick of time yesterday. Some thirty plugs of dynamite were found attached to about forty feet of burning fuse.

The marriage of Daniel Dunlap to Miss Eva Stokes, of Coleman, was solemnized by Rev. J. F. Hunter on Monday night.

Mr. J. C. Cox returned on Sunday morning from Vancouver, where Mrs. Cox was buried in Ocean View cemetery. Whilst there he received word of the death of Mrs. Cox's nephew in Seattle (Morgan Jones) and he motored to that city to attend the funeral, held on Jan. 7. He states that he was met in Vancouver by Mr. Kerr, the worshipful master of Mount View Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and Chas. Quimette, a former master of Summit Lodge, besides a number of former Colemanites. Mrs. Davies, of Edmonton, a sister of Mr. Cox, who accompanied him to Vancouver, will return to her home at the end of the week, and Mrs. Williams (sister) who also accompanied him, returned home to Ponoka earlier in the week.—Coleman Journal.

A well known locomotive engineer at Frank was entertaining a visitor during the Christmas season and was showing off the radio. "Yep," he remarked, "I built her all myself," proudly swinging the dial.

The friend listened a moment, then remarked: "I believe you. She whistles for every station."

Nominations will take place on Monday, February the 3rd, and elections February 10th.

Lethbridge staged a real comeback against Blaimore last night, winning by six to five. It is the first league game lost by Blaimore this season, and the play throughout was of such a high standard that our boys don't mind the loss. The game was refereed by Mel Rhynas and was one of the cleanest ever witnessed here, but three penalties being handed out. Blaimore played minus Idris Evans.

Winners in the borspeli last week included Sherwood Herchmer, Fernie, champion skip, carrying off the grand aggregate and first prizes in one competition, together with a chance for the Trites-Wood trophy against Kaster at Fernie; Greenway, of Lethbridge, the grand challenge trophy; Morgan, of Blaimore, the Lethbridge Brewery cup; Rhynas, of Blaimore, the Liphardit cup; Sherwood Herchmer, Fernie, the Magzath cup.

The proceeds will go towards the organ fund.

Mrs. Etta Bolt, woman medical missionary among the Eskimos, has been suggested to Ottawa as the first woman senator. The suggestion is prompted by the fact that as the Northwest Territories have been taxed by the government without representation in parliament, and because the northland has a woman in Mrs. Bolt whose services to the Arctic community are equal to that of any woman in Canada, and that in refinement, education and ability she is equal to her southern sisters.

After being dunned for a subscription account every month for about five years and about every week for the past year without results, a subscriber to an Alberta weekly newspaper writes the editor to this effect: "The Editor.—I have just received your account for subscription to your valuable paper for the years 1924 to 1930. I have known you for over twenty years and have always thought you a first-class business man, but when I received this statement I came to the conclusion you are a very poor collector." Immigration and Unemployment

At the present time much is being said and written on the twin subjects of immigration and unemployment. Hardly an issue of a daily paper appears that does not contain some reference to the problems involved, hundreds of letters to editors are penned expressing one view or another, conferences and conventions pass resolutions, and Governments, Federal, Provincial and Municipal are struggling with the difficulties confronting them. There is in all quarters a tendency manifested to shelve the responsibility on to the other fellow, to be, in the descriptive language of the day, "pass the buck," and "let George do it."

With a recent weeks headlines in the press have informed a reading public that "3,000,000 are unemployed in the United States," that in Germany "2,000,000 are out of work," that the number of unemployed in Great Britain "remains between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000," while, coming nearer home, that "the unemployed situation is acute in all large Canadian centres of population."

What is the cause? What is the solution? The United States has been experiencing a period of unexampled industrial growth and activity. In 1929 Canada enjoyed the most prosperous year in its history, with all records for manufacturing, building construction, and development of natural resources reaching new high marks. Despite depression in certain basic industries, Great Britain reports more people at work than before the war, while Germany, we are told, is "coming back," and regaining much of her former strength in the export markets of the world.

In Canada the opinion prevails in many quarters that our unemployment problem is largely due to an influx of immigrants, but such a cause cannot be advanced in the case of Great Britain, Germany, or even in the United States, with its rigidly restricted immigration on quotas. Yet unemployment seems to be almost universal; in fact there is less in proportion to population in other countries. So, the cause lies deeper than in immigration, although, of course, it undoubtedly has some effect.

In the United States it is not partly accounted for by the fact that for some years past mass production has been maintained on a scale hitherto unknown, and the marketing of this enormous production has only been possible through the sale of every conceivable kind of article on the installment plan, until the average income of the buying public was tied up in advance for long periods. Possibly the saturation point has been reached, and people being unable to buy more, even on a credit basis, production had to slow up.

It is not also true that the enormous sums now invested in automobiles, radios, and other expensive bits, in the case of the average citizen, unproductive devices, being thus withdrawn from productive enterprises in having its effect on other industries?

Again, through the inventive genius of this age, labor-saving machinery and appliances of all kinds have had the result of enabling one man or woman to do the work of two, three or more, with a consequent lessening of the ratio of employment to volume of output. Wages to those employed are higher, but the number of workers actually required in many industries is less, although their output is greater. There in Western Canada we have an example of this in the big drop in the number of farm helpers required through the introduction of the combined harvester-thresher and the increasing use of motor trucks over horse drawn vehicles. As one result, too, the tendency is again in the direction of larger farms, whereas not many years ago the belief was fairly general that the day of smaller farm holdings providing for more families was on the land was approaching.

What governments, manufacturers, labor unions, and our whole citizenship must realize is that a present paradox of unemployment in an era of general expansion and growth is the result of changing world conditions. All countries are affected. Everything is in a state of flux. And because all countries are affected, and also because far away fields always look green, people everywhere are looking elsewhere to better their condition. The inevitable result of this article is to encourage real study of the problem, instead of the present prevailing tendency to lay the blame on somebody else.

Says Insanity Increasing

Eminent Psychologist Makes Some-what Startling Assertion

After copious consideration and profound contemplation an eminent psychologist asserts that it is only a matter of time when we will all be in the asylum. He finds that insanity is increasing rapidly, that a few centuries hence practically the whole world will be daffy in the bean. In a universe of nuts a squirrel may be king.

The fact that the world is going crazy is no surprise to some folks. They think that it is that way already. But on the other hand there are some of good repute who are still able to figure out that this is not such a rotten world after all, and that there is enough skill and intelligence available to keep the machinery running for an indefinite period.—Los Angeles Times.

Unemployment Relief

Regina City Council Projecting Civic Works During Winter Season

An actual cost of $30,000, another sewer programme is now being considered by Regina City officials as an unemployment relief measure, and will supplement the programme already undertaken and nearly completed.

To date this winter, eight and a half blocks of sewers have been dug by day labor in various sections of the city as unemployed relief. As well, a plank walk programme of 18 blocks has recently been started for unemployment relief at a cost of $5,000.

Good Word For Women Drivers

New York Commissioner Says More Men Break Traffic Laws

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Charles A. Hartnett, states that women drivers in New York State represent 10 per cent of the total number. In the last four months 27,130 men violated traffic laws—as against 653 women.

On an average day 250 men are arrested and only four women. Over this four-month period 3,818 men were up for speeding, as opposed to sixty-six women.

Difficulties over car lights have brought 4,635 men to court, while only sixty-nine women were charged with similar offences.

Smoking motors were charged against seventeen men, but against not one woman.

One woman was very legibly booked for intoxication. To offset that showing there were 132 men accused of driving while drunk.

Thirty women failed to keep to the right, 4,075 men did likewise.

Seven women mistook a one-way street. There were 481 men who made the same error.

Thirty-two women did not have their licenses at a crucial moment. Similar lapses of memory affected 1,226 males.

INFLUENZA'S VICTIMS

Left Weak, Miserable and a Prey To Disease In Many Forms

One of the most treacherous diseases afflict the people of this country during the winter months is influenza. It almost invariably ends with a complication of troubles. Its victims suffer with alternate fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves them an easy prey to bronchitis and pneumonia. Indeed, the deadly effects of influenza may leave the victim a chronic invalid. You can avoid influenza entirely by keeping your blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you have not done this and the disease attacks you, you can banish its deadly after effects through the use of this great blood-purifying nerve-restoring tonic.

Here is proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills over this trouble. Mr. F. H. McMillen, Belleville, Ont., says: "Some years ago, following a severe attack of influenza, I was left in such a weak condition that my friends thought I would not get better. I developed nervous indigestion, my blood ran thin and watery. In this weakened condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these did what other medicines had failed to do—brought me back to normal strength. I can honestly say I think that the best blood builder and nerve tonic known, and I shall always praise them." You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Tribute To Canadian Industry

Canada Has "Cleanest" Tea Warehouse in the World

On a tour of the Dominion, under the auspices of the British Import of Certified Grocers, six post graduates visited the Montreal plant of the Salada Tea Company, of Canada, Limited. The following report made by the secretary, Mr. C. L. T. Enoch, appeared in the Tea & Coffee Trade Journal, of New York.

"During the tour they (the graduates), inspected some of the wholesale and retail tea concerns in the Dominion, and they considered that the Montreal plant of the Salada Tea Company was the neatest and cleanest tea blending warehouse and packing centre in the world."

Canada has reason to be proud of industries that can make such an impression on visitors of this calibre.

Will Use Tyndall Stone

Alberta Government To Use Manitoba Product In Construction Of New Administration Building

The Alberta Government has decided to use Manitoba stone in the construction of its new $700,000 administration building at Edmonton. A decision as between stone from the Tyndall quarries and from Indiana has been made in favor of the former, and Premier Brownlee telegraphed Mr. Bracken to that effect. The bill for stone alone will run into a quarter of a million dollars.

In his wire to the Manitoba premier, Mr. Brownlee said: "May I also express the hope that your government will continue to assist us in our efforts to extend our coal market in your province. We would appreciate further investigation into the possibilities of using larger percentage of our coal in government institutions."

The decision of the Alberta Government to use Tyndall stone in preference to imported stone for the new executive building at Edmonton was received with much satisfaction in Manitoba Government and business circles.

Protests against a sister province letting a contract for the stone to a firm in the United States had been formed. Premier John Bracken, in seeking the contract for Manitoba, had the support of the Winnipeg Board of Trade and other organizations.

To Extend News Service

Movement To Enlarge Newspaper Service In Western Canada

Newspaper publishers and editors of western Canada, members of the Canadian Press, met at Vancouver recently, in preparation for the great extension of the news service in western Canada following the printerization of the news wire through circuits now in progress from Winnipeg to Victoria, which will about double the wordage laid down in the individual newspaper offices and will permit scope for much freer interchange of news between the four western provinces as well as the publication of more eastern Canadian news in the west and more western Canadian news in the east.

Proposals of the management for the betterment of the news service, both foreign and domestic, were endorsed and in particular the meeting went on record as recommending to the board of directors of the Canadian Press the early establishment at York of a Canadian Press staff representative, now that a Canadian ministry has been established in Japan.

To Pay $200,000,000 In Cash

The growing prosperity of Canada is indicated in the official announcement that the Canadian Government will redeem in cash a loan of $200,000,000 payable on February 1, 1930. The revenues of Canada was greater in the first ten days of the current fiscal year than the total for the whole of the year 1928, the first year of Confederation. The surplus of revenues over expenditures last year would have more than paid off the national debt of Canada as it stood in the early seventies of the last century.

Real Service

If a shower comes up in the city of Berlin, the pedestrians will find on the next corner an automatic machine for the vending of umbrellas. Drop 15 cents in the slot and walk off with a brand-new storm shelter. The umbrellas are made of oiled paper and may not last a lifetime, but they are good for a dozen or more storms, and are right handy when the drops are dropping.

To Discuss Educational Matters

Premier Anderson, Of Saskatchewan, Will Hold Informal Conference

Representatives of various organizations throughout Saskatchewan will be invited to come to Regina and in an informal conference discuss with Premier J. T. Anderson, educational problems.

In making the announcement that such a conference would be held at a date to be fixed later, Premier Anderson said he hoped to be able to focus the thought of the people of Saskatchewan on the subject of educational development and to enable his government to find out at first hand the nature of the problems that are most pressing.

Touching on the new courses of study being prepared for public and high schools, the premier, who is also minister of education, expressed the hope that wherever citizens are organized for civic or social welfare consideration should be given to the contemplated changes in curricula.

"It would be useless," he said, "for us to prescribe courses of study which are not understood and appreciated, or which have not the solid support of a large majority of the people who pay the taxes and whose children attend the schools."

Stating that a mass of criticism had been directed against rural education in Saskatchewan, the premier said those schools needed to be vitalized and brought into harmony with the actual requirements of rural life in Saskatchewan.

"I am particularly anxious," he said, "to have home makers clubs, local lodges of both sections of the United Farmers of Canada, various social study clubs, service clubs, church societies, trades and labor councils, boards of trade, civic and social organizations of all kinds, all join with us in the study of educational problems and offer suggestions for improving our system of education."

Riel Veteran Dead

Old-Timer In The West Lived To See Many Changes

Murdoch McLeod, 85, Edmonton's oldest old-timer, died in that city recently, following a brief illness. As an apprentice boy of 15, he left the Hebrides to take service in the ranks of the Hudson Bay Company. He was a prisoner during the Riel Rebellion and later, with a party of 55 men, 22 women and two children, 15 half-breeds and 50 cars and wagons, trekked over the prairies from Winnipeg to Edmonton, the trip taking from September 1, 1875, to November 18.

Canada's Water Power

Development Was Crudely Started By Early French Settlers

The development of Canadian water powers had its inception in the efforts of the early French settlers to produce power to meet local needs for grinding grain and sawing lumber. With the application of the electrical generator to commercial uses a little over forty years ago a new industry—the production of electricity for public use—and a new era in the development of water power came into being. Since that time the two have advanced together until at the end of 1928 Canada's hydraulic installation had reached the imposing total of 3,449,232 horse-power, of which 4,445,693 h.p. was used in generating electricity for general public distribution.

Miller's Worm Powders not only exterminate intestinal and other worms, but they are a remedy for many other ailments of children. They strengthen the young stomach against biliousness and are tonic in their effects where the child suffers from loss of appetite. In such conditions they will be found useful and they will serve to lay pain and griping in the stomach, from which children so often suffer.

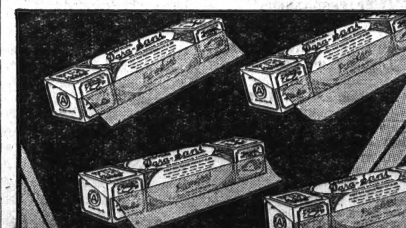

B.C. Lumbering Operations

Four hundred plants are engaged in manufacturing lumber products in British Columbia, involving an investment of 200 million dollars. In 1928, the cut was over three billion feet. These plants employ forty thousand people and pay out in wages sixty million dollars annually.

WILL TAKE STEPS TO PROVIDE WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Winnipeg.—Several government departments have been requested to co-operate in as many ways as possible with municipalities and private agencies in meeting the unemployment situation through such agencies as they are in a position to employ.

This is made known in a telegram received here by James Grant, chairman of the Manitoba Association of Unemployed Ex-service Men. The communication was received from Harry Baldwin, secretary to Premier Mackenzie King.

The telegram was in reply to one sent by Mr. Grant to the prime minister requesting immediate assistance for the unemployed ex-service men.

The departments that have been requested to co-operate with municipal and provincial authorities include the departments of public works and railways and canals.

While there has been no official pronouncement from the Dominion authorities, it is understood here that the government is considering the department of public works construction in various centres immediately to assist the unemployed. Ordinarily, the work to be undertaken would not be started for some months.

Children Die In Fire

Three Smothered By Smoke Before Rescue Could Be Made

Hull, Que.—Fire which broke out while they were playing about their home, took the lives of the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Parise here. The theories entertained as to the origin of the fatal blaze are that either the children were playing with matches or an electric heating plate set fire to the walls.

The dead are: Jean Paul, aged five years; Paulette, two years and six months; and Adrienne, seven months.

The conflagration, breaking out during the brief period the mother absented herself to telephone from the ground floor apartment of the duplex in which the Parises reside, gave off such a volume of smoke that the little tots were smothered before a rescue could be effected.

Start Hazardous Trip

Five Men Making Journey Across Rockies On Skis

Jasper.—Five young men have left Jasper, Alberta, on a 300-mile ski trip across the Rocky mountains to Banff. It will be one of the most hazardous adventures of its kind ever undertaken. And if the trip is successful it will be the first time since a crossing has been made during the winter months.

The members of the party are: Vernon and Allen Jeffery, Pete Weis, Frank Burdum and Joe Weiss, all of Jasper Park, and all experienced mountaineers and skiers. They expect to conclude their trip by February.

The adventure was planned last spring and during the summer adequate caches were placed at strategic points along the route which, in some cases, will be more than 9,000 feet above sea level. At such altitudes very low temperatures, in some cases sixty below zero, are likely to be encountered, and the party will have to face such dangers as unknown mountain conditions and the elimination of trail guides that are visible during the summer.

As far as is known this is the longest continuous ski trip ever attempted anywhere in the world.

Korean Students Strike

Over Ten Thousand Said To Be Involved In Trouble

Seoul, Korea.—One thousand Korean students including 250 girls, including 20 college and high schools, including 20 missionary institutions run by United States societies.

The strike involved students estimated to number 10,000. It occurred during the post-holiday examinations, and ostensibly out of sympathy for the 900 students arrested last month. The December strike was said to have been due to long standing quarrels between Japanese and Korean students of the middle schools.

Many of those arrested last month still are in prison. Japanese authorities believe the new strike was engineered by a street society with Communistic tendencies.

Rust Resistant Wheat

Marquette Wheat Grown At Saskatchewan University For Some Years

Saskatoon.—Although Marquette wheat was recommended by the University of Minnesota, it is a production of the plant breeders at that university. It has been grown at the University of Saskatchewan for a number of years, and has proved highly rust resistant and equal to Marquette except for a slight yellowness of flower color.

This wheat has been crossed with the Marquette at the University of Saskatchewan and Dr. J. B. Harrington, in charge of this cross, expects the latest offspring of this cross will give great promise of extremely high milling quality along with the rust resistance of the Marquette parent.

May Migrate To Mexico

Doukhobors Sending Delegation To Investigate Lay Of Land

Saskatoon.—Doukhobors of Canora district are sending six investigators to Mexico to investigate the lay of the land with a view to possible migration on a considerable scale when spring comes.

Decision to send the delegation, which will represent both brotherhood and independent doukhobors, was made at a largely attended meeting in Canora.

Of the delegation which is going to Mexico, two will be from the brotherhood at Verigin, one from British Columbia, and the other three men are Beville Chernoff, of Verigin; Wasy Novokoshonoff, of Buchanan; and W. Popoff, of Blaine Lake. Peter Verigin, well-known Doukhobor leader, whose father met a violent death in 1924, will accompany the delegation as far as New York. Verigin presided at the Canora meeting.

FARMERS MUST MAINTAIN HIGH WHEAT QUALITY

Saskatoon, Sask.—Unless Canadian farmers maintain the high quality of their wheat, they are in imminent danger of finding no market for it, according to Major H. G. L. Strange, of Fenn, Alberta, who addressed the convention of the Saskatchewan Field Husbandry Association at the University of Saskatchewan. Major Strange, once winner of the grand award of the International Hay and Grain Show, at Chicago, and an enthusiastic seed grower, has made a study of the conditions in respect to marketing wheat, not only in Canada but also in England and in continental Europe.

"The man who buys is the important man," stated Major Strange, "and not the producer. If we do not provide a product of quality and at a price which suits the consumer, we will be able to sell it. Not long ago the cry was raised for two dollar wheat, and we were told that the world could not get along without our grain. During the last six months we have been shown how well the world can do without Canadian grain, for the millers of Europe have reduced the percentage of flour from our wheat, which is mixed into their bread, from 35 to 10."

This, stated the speaker, was not because they objected to the higher price altogether, but because the quality in the last few years has been sacrificed for quantity in production. Countries buying Canadian wheat are devoid of sentiment, and Canadians sell their grain to Britain and then buy goods from the United States. The Argentine buys goods with the money received for their grain, and keeps a good customer. The British economy necessarily compels the British buyer to go where they can get the most value for their money and sell the most goods in return.

Russia is again in the market, and as a result, the price of wheat drops eight cents in Canada. There is no reason for Canadian farmers, with the advantage in methods they have gained in the past five or ten years, not holding the top of the world market with their wheat. If the former high standard is kept up. The only way to do this is to follow the advice of Cato, who two thousand years ago, said: "Though well, sow good seed and keep down the weeds." The C.S.G.A. offers facilities for the procuring of good seed equalled by no other organization in the world, and it is up to the farmer to protect his own interests.

Vessel Adrift On Atlantic

Reward Is Offered For Return Of Schooner To Newfoundland

Halifax.—A reward of $1,000 is being offered by the government of Newfoundland to any officer of any ship who goes aboard the schooner "Neptune" and brings back to Newfoundland the vessel that is drifting at the mercy of sea and wind somewhere in the North Atlantic. Her captain, accustomed only to shore navigation is unable to bring her to port.

This information, broadcast from Cape Race, was received by C. H. Harvie, local marine and fisheries agent. Hundreds of ships crossing the Atlantic would pick up the message.

The schooner has been drifting helplessly since it left St. John's Nfld., on November 29, and was driven out to sea by a hurricane that scattered the fleet of 10 vessels with which the "Neptune" had left for home ports on the northeast coast of Newfoundland.

The "Neptune," carrying 19 persons, was reported "all right," 720 miles southeast of Newfoundland on December 15.

U.S. Automobile Fatalities

Figures Show 31,500 People In 31 States Killed In Auto Mishaps In 1929

Chicago, Ill.—Figures made public by the National Safety Council showed 31,500 persons were killed in automobile accidents in 31 states during 1929.

The total was 13 per cent. more than in 1928, the report said, while motor vehicle registration increased only 8 per cent.

More than half the victims were pedestrians.

TAKES HOPEFUL VIEW OF SUCCESS OF NAVAL PARLEY

London, Eng.—Great Britain can only move on the principle that other nations move correspondingly with her, and that when an agreement on naval disarmament is arrived at, it will represent an international policy adopted by the other nations as well as Great Britain, this comprised the keynote of the formal remarks made by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, when he met a couple of hundred newspaper correspondents of all countries, both resident in London and specially sent to the British capital, who will report the naval disarmament conference.

Among points the prime minister established, were that Great Britain is looking for the eventual elimination of the battleship, both on account of its tremendous expense (Mr. MacDonald mentioned they cost £7,000,000 apiece), and also because of the differences among naval experts concerning the utility. Until battleships are eliminated it is sought to effect a gradual reduction in their tonnage and gun-power when replacements are made.

British authorities, the prime minister continued, took a hopeful stand on the instruments already effected. The Kellogg pact, the optional clause of the world court agreement, and the pacts of Washington and Paris with a number of additional regional agreements. These instruments had already given the whole world a greater feeling of security, so that if the risk of war had already been reduced, it was surely reasonable, he said, to expect armaments could be reduced.

Premier MacDonald stressed that if the conference failed, it would mean the world would be faced with 10 or 20 years' competitive naval building. But he was confident it would achieve a treaty effective in reducing navies to the lowest level consistent with national safety.

Today also, Lord Bridgeman, first Lord of the Admiralty, in the former Conservative Government, attacked the Labor Government for lowering the British level of cruisers necessary for Empire defence, from 70 to 50. The justification for this given by the government, the improved atmosphere resulting from the Paris pact, "most unconvincing," Lord Bridgeman said.

Speaking to the British Naval League, Lord Bridgeman added the belief that some agreement might be reached in a spirit of give-and-take; "but others must give as well as ourselves."

At another meeting, Vice-Admiral E. A. Taylor also expressed grave fears for the future of British naval defence and some doubts as to the security offered by the Kellogg-Brand pact.

"The Kellogg pact is no guarantee whatever that war is a thing of the past," Vice-Admiral Taylor declared.

ANTI-LIQUOR CAMPAIGN TO THE FORE IN THE U.S.

Washington.—The close of the first decade of national prohibition in the United States, found anti-liquor laws figuring prominently in the news from widely separated sections of the nation.

At Washington congressional committees prepared legislation to carry out recommendations for improved enforcement, sponsored by President Hoover and the law enforcement commission.

Chas. Mann Wickersham, of the commission, issued a statement supporting the constitutionality of the proposal for trying minor prohibition cases before U.S. commissioners. Leaders of the anti-saloon league met at Detroit and began sessions with addresses declaring for "an aggressive battle right at anti-liquor and city submit to the law."

An announcement was made at Lansing that Michigan state police will use machine guns and tear bombs to prevent rum running.

Governor Green, of Michigan, commuted the sentences of five prohibition law violators serving life terms under the state's formal criminal code.

Governor Dillon, of New Mexico, recommended the use of the army to patrol the borders as a test of the dry laws.

Governor Richards, of South Carolina, recommended to the state legislature that liquor and saloon liquor be made equally guilty, with a jail sentence mandatory upon the second conviction.

Seventy-one persons were arrested in prohibition raids at Columbus, Ga. A federal judge at Jacksonville, Fla., ruled customs and other officers must have definite knowledge that an automobile contains liquor before the vehicle can be searched.

At Oklahoma City, 102 persons charged with conspiracy to violate dry laws were sustained in a motion for a bill of particulars.

Immediate Acceptance Of Government Pension Plan Is Urged For Quebec

He argued that the people of Quebec were entitled to the payment of pension in other provinces through the Dominion taxes and getting nothing for their own aged people.
